Di Claims Charles is a Big Toad!!!

She says life's been a grim fairy tale....

Oakland (WHN) English society has once again been devastated by a scandal involving the Royal Family. Today, Princess Diana shook the Monarchy to its core when she revealed that Prince Charles is neither man nor mouse but is a rather common garden toad.

Princess Diana revealed that Charles turns into a toad whenever he has gone longer than 24 hours without a kiss from a Princess. Diana admitted that as a consequence of their marital discord, Charles "is usually a toad these days."

While Buckingham Palace has moved quickly to squelch Diana's assertions, evidence has been obtained by the World Headline News which supports Diana's claims. Rumors circulating at the WHN further suggest that on those rare occasions that Charles must be seen in public, Buckingham Palace flies in Princess Stephanie of Monaco to do "The Royal Kissing". Though Monaco officials deny this publically, one official privately expressed his opinion that "Stephanie's well known "lust" for frog legs may finally have gone too far". When directly questioned as to her relationship with Charles, Princess Stephanie refused comment and screamed at reporters to get out of her way as she needed to see her dermatologist to have "a rather nasty wart removed" from her lip.

What effect Dianas revelation will have on the Monarchy is unclear. Charles is reported to be pondering abdication in favor of Prince William. While the new heir apparent is too young (by just a tad), polls indicate that William is acceptable to the Commonwealth. Queen Elizabeth, while in good health and in no danger of croaking, is reported to be pushing Charles to accept William as the next King.

In related news, in the first Royal Edict in 70 years, the Queen has banned the eating of frog legs within the U.K. Violators will be severely punished by being sent to live in France.

The Real Prince Charles Revealed!

Oakland (WHN) Since Princess Diana's revelations about Charles, the world has wondered what the Prince of Wales actually looks like.

Troubles with the IRS? read this!

Each year tens of thousands of honest American taxpayers are hounded by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). Among the poor innocent Americans who have been subjected to hounding by the IRS are: Al Capone, Leona Helmsley, and Joseph Gambino. Indeed, many of these poor innocent citizens have been subjected to fines and, in all too many cases, incarceration.

So what can we, America's concerned citizens, do?

According to the IRS, not a hell of alot. Their recommendation is to pay up and shut up.....

While previous attempts to photograph the Prince in his native state have failed, special camera lenses have allowed the World Headline News to obtain exclusive photos of the toad who would be king! In a shocking photo of the Prince and Princess of Wales entering their country estate at Pond Water, the real Chales has been revealed for the first time.

Sources within the Prince's household report that while at Pond Water, Charles has been busy "fly fishing". These sources indicate that Charles favors "nymphs" from a variety of invertebrate species including the Lady Camilla bug.

When confronted with the photo documentation of Charles affliction, the Palace Spokesman Sir Frank Kafka would not comment on the metamorphosis of Charles but stated that, "the private life and hobbies of the future King should remain private". Charles is reported to be hopping mad that this matter has reached the public eye and administered a severe tongue lashing to Diana.

War Looms in Europe !!

Today England's Prime Minister John Major threatened war with France if the French do not immediately cease the immoral and disgusting culinary trait of eating frog legs.

In a strong "Non!" the French have began mobilizing troops along the Channel and preparing butter and garlic cluster bombs.

As events continue to unfold, a chant of "Death to frog eaters!" has been heard in London while in Paris, cries of "Charlie still has two legs!" are being shouted.
